Sugar Production Is Historically An International Relations Aid

By MICHAEL RUBIO

(Editor's Note: Mr. Rubio, who is a former Superintendent of the Louisiana Sugar Refining Co., was guest speaker at the 1957 National Editorial Association Convention in New Orleans, La., on March 28-29.)

The historical background and present-day status of the sugar production industry internationally, as outlined by Mr. Rubio, is recommended especially to anyone interested in the sugar industry, the most important economic crop.

Sugarcane is generally believed to have originated in Northern India.

It is in some of the legends concerning Buddha about the fourth century, B.C. There was no field culture and its use for several centuries was restricted to chewing the cane and drinking the juice. From India the planting of cane probably spread into China.

The earliest positive evidence of sugar in solid form seems to date from about A.D. 500 in Persia. Commercial manufacture and refining developed in Egypt during the 9th and 10th centuries, and the exportation of sugar was an important part of that country's commerce. The culture of the sugarcane had been spread by the Arabs throughout Northern Africa and Southern Europe at the same time that it was being carried into Java and the Philippines by the Chinese. The Crusaders brought sugar back to France in the 11th century after their time the commercial development and use became widespread in Europe.

During the Middle Ages sugar was a delicacy of so great a cost that only the nobility used it. Marvelous curative powers were ascribed to its use. Columbus introduced sugarcane into Santo Domingo on his second voyage in 1494, and from there it was carried to Cuba, Puerto Rico and other West Indies and to Central and South American sections. By 1600 the production of raw sugar from cane grown in tropical America was the greatest industry in the world. The cultivation in Louisiana dates from 1750. It is good to mention here that the sugar industry was the earliest food process to employ chemical and technical knowledge in present use in most large industries.

As it can be seen by the above it has taken many centuries and many nations to produce the cane industry to what it is today.

In my opinion, the sugar industry has a great deal to do with inter-American as well as with international relations.

As an example of this, there is the commercial end of it there is an international agreement in which most of the nations of the world are represented in a conference in which they decide the amount of sugar which is to be sold, bought or produced by each nation. In this form they have an orderly manner of selling their sugar and all interests in Java and the Philippines by the Chinese. The Crusaders brought sugar back to France in the 11th century after their time the commercial development and use became widespread in Europe.

Right now we are experiencing a very unusual situation in the sugar market. At this moment the price of sugar in the world market is higher than the domestic price of sugar. In this situation and with a difference in price of approximately $15.00 per ton of sugar between the world and the local markets, Cuba entered the U.S. that they would not only fulfill their quota of approximately 3 million tons to the U.S. market, but they also assured the Dept.

of Agriculture that they will receive an additional 300,000 tons for the U.S. market in case they were needed.

The Sugar Act of the U.S. provides quotas for the domestic producers as well as for the foreign nations. 58% of the consumption (9,000,000 tons) is supplied by domestic producers which includes Puerto Rico, Hawaii, the Philippines and the Virgin Islands.

The purpose of the Sugar Act is to regulate commerce among the several states and the territories and possessions of the U.S. and the foreign countries to protect the welfare of the consumers of sugar and those engaged in the domestic sugar producing industry and to promote the export trade of the U.S.

As can be seen Congress, through the Sugar Act, has recognized the importance of the sugar industry to maintain good international relations.

In my opinion this form of laws and treaties which we can call official is not the really important one. To me the real important one is the one that has done more in the interdependence of technical knowledge and personnel among the sugar producing countries.

For example, at Clewiston the U.S. Sugar Corp. is the largest sugar mill in the U.S.

At Clewiston, Mr. Martinez, a Cuban, is Vice-President in charge of the mill and the plant is run with Cuban and Chinese personnel.

At Oklausta Sugar Refinery, is the same thing. Cuban owners, Cuban personnel, and Cuban personnel. At both places cane is harvested by Java.

If you go to Cuba you will see many American Engineers and chemists working in the sugar mills; the same thing in Puerto Rico, the Dominican Republic and throughout all Latin America.

It may surprise you to know that when the Moslems threatened the cane sugar industry in Cuba and Puerto Rico, the industry was saved by the introduction of a variety from Java. Most of the cane now planted in Puerto Rico comes from seedlings from Java and Barbados.

We are constantly receiving visits from people from all over the world. This year we had visitors from Brazil, Colombia, Venezuela, India and Israel's Ministry of Agriculture.

In Israel they have irrigated lands where they want to dedicate to sugarcane. They will probably get seedlings and personnel from the U.S. or Cuba to start with.

The U.S. sells a lot of sugar mill machinery throughout the world. It is considered the best. Sometimes the scarcity of dollars prevents many countries from going exclusively to U.S. machinery. This takes a lot of American salesmen and engineers to all the sugar countries.

Louisiana State University and the University of Puerto Rico both carry courses specializing in cane sugar manufacture. The LSU has a small mill in which the students practice with the machinery. Students from all over the world come to LSU.

Besides all this there are annual meetings of the ISSCT in which all the sugar producing countries of the world are represented. They select a different country for the meeting every year. Last year the meeting was held in India, the year before in Australia. In this meeting papers are presented, with new ideas which are discussed for the benefit of all.

There are no secrets whatsoever in the sugar industry. On the contrary, there is a large unpublished correspondence constantly going on among ourselves in which we discuss our problems. This, I can tell you, is very helpful.

In Puerto Rico all sugar mills exchange their weekly manufacturing reports. This is in order to compare the work of one mill with the others.

In this respect we people in the sugar industry think of ourselves as one big family regardless of nationality. This attitude of ours has undoubtedly improved the relations among our several countries.

Work On Airport Road Threatened By Buildings

County Commissioner Paul Thompson reported this week that construction of Airport Road in the Glades was being supplanted by airplane hangars located in the road right of way.

The Glades commissioner urged support of the board for the county engineering department to immediately take action to remove the private hangars at the Belle Glade airport from county right of way.

Hardin said that unless the hangars were moved, road building equipment would have to be taken off the job.

FIELD DAY REPORTS

(Continued from Page One) elements during the winter months. Molasses and grass silage were used in experiments. "Supplemental feeds may be temporary winter pastures, grass or corn silage, sugar cane, citrus or cane molasses, in amounts of digestible nutrients for both maintenance and the desired performance."

Dalton Harrison, gave costs of $2.84 to $3.12 per ton for grass silages with either molasses or bisulfite as preservatives. It is advised that approximately 100 pounds of molasses be used per ton of green silage. It is pointed out that ground silo 96 feet long by 15 wide and 6 feet high made of creosoted T&G will hold 250 tons of silage and this amount will care for 100 cows for a period of 80 days, estimating that 50 pounds per ton is consumed.

There is room for a reduction in spoilage of the horizontal ground silo by more careful packing on the sides.

Mr. Chapman in a report on mineral investigations with beef cattle showed that a general average of one pound of the mineral mixture will be consumed by an animal in ten days, though the consumption varied from .56 of a pound per day to 14 lbs. Molasses reduced the consumption of minerals, as did certain grass silages.

Steamed bone meal, salt, copper, aluminum, iron, manganese and cobalt, as well as DiCaPO4 were included in the mineral mixture. Molasses were used as an ingredient as well as a binder.

Reports on the effects of Silbestrol by H. L. Chapman and R. M. Hooker clearly demonstrate that the use of this supplement is advantageous in pounds gained; it was also demonstrated that an implant of 36mg of silbestrol for yearling steers fattened in a dry lot is the most effective manner.

The reports of these several scientists have been mimeographed by the Everglades Station and are available to anyone interested. No cattle man should be without one in his library, or his medical chest.

M. U. (Red) Mount, County Agent and John Causey, Assistant ramrodded this field-day, and were hosts to more than 250 south Florida cattlemen during the day.

The County Cattlemen's Association fed the group a delectable barbecue dinner at midday.

Chevrolet Wins Coveted Manufacturers' Trophy at Daytona Beach as "best performing U. S. automobile"

Want facts about performance? Then look at the official figures from NASCAR's* internationally famous Daytona Beach competition for stock cars. Here's what you'll find: Chevrolet, in two weeks of blistering competition, proved itself as America's Number One performance car. Nothing in the low-price field could touch it.

No other car, regardless of price, scored such a sweep. And Chevy walked away with the famous Manufacturers' Trophy, hands down! The 1957 Chevrolet is, by all odds, the most astonishing performer ever produced in the low-price field. Best of all, this superiority isn't limited to just a few extra-cost high-performance models. Every type of Chevy—from the six-cylinder models right up to the 283-horsepower "Super Turbo-Fire" V8s, from the single-carburetor V6's with Powerglide to the stick-shift "270's"—is a championship car.
